REV. COX SPEAKS ON "THE BIBLE IN THE WORLD'S LIFE."

UNION SERVICES START

No Service Tonight or Tuesday Night—Dr. Dodds Will Have Charge of the Services Wednesday.

Rev. Gilbert S. Cox, pastor of the First M. E. church, delivered an excellent sermon Sunday evening to the congregations of the church and also the First Presbyterian church on "The Bible in the World's Life."

The union services of the Presbyterian and First M. E. churches commenced Sunday, but no services will be held tonight or Tuesday night. Dr. Samuel Dodds will arrive Wednesday and will have charge of the services, both afternoon and evening. In the afternoon, Dr. Dodds will give a series of addresses on the Mosaic Institutions and in the evenings, he will explain the Gospel of Luke.

Rev. Cox sermon in part of Sunday evening is given below, his text being taken from John vi:63.

"The words that I have spoken unto you are spirit and are life. Jesus made large claims for the Bible. He maintained that he had come to fulfill scripture and that in searching them one would find Him which was to find eternal life. In this text he makes a still more sweeping statement when He claims that His words are spirit and life itself. At first thought that might seem to be extravagant but as we look into the life of the world it is strikingly true that His words and the record of his life have been the inspiration and the heart of the good in the world.

"Voltaire declared that within one hundred years after his time there would not be a Bible in print. The very press that issued his blasphemies was soon used to print that sacred book. He would be surprised perhaps to know that more than twelve million copies of the Bible in while or in part had been published within the last year and that it would take the total circulation of one hundred of the most popular books of the year to equal the circulation of The Book; and that it is printed today in more than five hundred languages and dialects.

"These things seem to bear out the statement of Jesus that there is life in His word. Let us glance at the world and see what is the source of all that we call good.

"The Bible is the life of art. It is true that before the time of the Bible there were some flashes of the beautiful, but they are as hidden grains in mountains of chaff compared with the great volume of art that has grown since the time of the Bible. This book so gathers up and expresses the truth that Millet said, "I find all that I do in the Bible." The mere calling of the roll of the world's master painters and the naming of their masterpieces is sufficient evidence of the truth of the statement of Christ.

"Raphael's 'Sistine Madonna' might be called the beauty of chilhood and the glory of motherhood. We might wright beneath it, 'Of such is the kingdom of Heaven.' His other immortal picture of the 'Transfiguration is not only a picture of Christ, but a testimony to the transcendant beauty of a pure character and the Christlikeness of service in His name. Murillo's 'Immaculate Conception,' which so much of mystical beauty is a resplendent commentary upon the words of Jesus, "Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God.' As so with the great, Reuben's 'Descent from the Cross,' Rembrant's 'Ecce Home,' DeVinci's Last Supper,' Burne-Jones' 'Nativity,' Holman Hunt's 'Light of the World,' Watts' 'Sir Galahad.' All these and many more bear immortal testimony to the power of the story of Christ to inspire the noblest and best in the world of art.

"It is equally true in the world of music. There is no music where the Bible has not gone and it is significant that the coming of Christ was announced by the song of the angels. Ever since then the master musicians of the world have vied with one another in expressing the sublime truth of the words and life of Jesus.

"The world of literature adds a mighty volume in testimony to this fact. Hamlet, the power of the spirit world; Macbeth, the sure punishment and portrayal of the suffering for wrong doing; King Lear, the inhumanity of the evil treatment of parents. These are sermons more powerful than come from many pulpits and as true to the gospel of Christ as he were a preacher.

"Hugo wrote of the awful struggle of a soul toward the light in Jean Val Jean, Lew Wallace wrote a tale of the Christ, Burns, in his 'Cotter's Saturday Night' set up a standard of beauty of the home life with the Bible in the center of the group that will continue as long as time to rebuke and inspire. George Elliot preached a mighty sermon on the text, 'What so ever a man soweth, that shall he also reap,' in her character of Tito.

"Tennyson, Wordsworth and Browning did more for the cause of sane christianity in their day than we can estimate and are still the preacher's poets. Mention need only be made of Longfellow, Emerson, Holmes, Lowell, Hawthorne, Bryant and others. Their lives and works speak louder than words.

"This is true in the political and social life of the world. India with her child widows, poverty and degradation is the answer to the Bible of that land. China, the giant who is just awakening is the refutation of confucious. Turkey, with its cruelty, debauchery and oppression. 'The Sick Man of Europe' is the result of the Koran. Italy, Spain, France, Mexico are a world reminder of the failure and menace of the system of the closed Bible. Germany, England and America are the three jewels in the cause of protestant christianity. Wherever the Bible goes the thrones of tyrants crumble, oppression gives way to freedom, and war makes way for peace.

"The greatest individuals of the race have been those who by their own testimony attribute their characters to the strength gained from this word of Life. This is so universally true that we can say that there is no really great life unless it is a life sustained by the divine power of God through this Book. The words I have spoken to you are spirit and life."

DEATH OF A YOUNG MOTHER.

Mrs. Katharyn Langan-Baker Gave Her Life on the Altar of Motherhood Sunday Night.

Mrs. William C. Baker of St. Joseph, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Langan, 514 West Second street, died Sunday night at 9:15 o'clock at St. Francis hospital, a few hours after the death of her infant son. Mrs. Baker had been at the home of her parent for the past two months and had been in excellent health until early Sunday morning. Her death is a severe shock to her family, especially to her husband, who was unable to reach Maryville before her death.

Miss Grace Langan, an only sister, came in Monday morning from St. Louis, where she stopped Saturday night on her way home from a ten days' vacation visit at Carlisle, Ill., with relatives. Miss Langan, who is our city librarian, was expecting to return Tuesday evening, but the phone message of her sister's illness Sunday evening was received just in time for her to take the train that brought her home Monday morning.

The funeral arrangements are not yet completed. The services will be held Wednesday afternoon at the First Christian church. Further announcement will be made Tuesday. Interment will take place here.

Katharyn Langan-Baker was born in Maryville thirty-one years ago the coming month of November. All of her life before her marriage was spent in Maryville, excepting four years she attended the Washington school in St. Joseph. On the 24th day of April, 1907, she was married to William C. Baker of St. Joseph. They have made their residence in that city since, where Mr. Baker is engaged in business, excepting a year here, when Mr. Baker was in business with his brothers in a meat market.

Besides the husband, parents and sister, Mrs. Baker leaves a 5-year-old daughter, Winnifred. She had been a member of the Christian church since a young girl, and she was loved by everyone. She grew into a most lovable woman, the charms of her girlhood increasing with the added responsibilities of the home, where she performed every duty in the most conscientious manner, and all who met her when she visited the parental home from time to time knew that she was a happy wife and mother.

The family has the sincere sympathy of many friends in their bereavement.

Parole Was Denied.

Playing in St. Joseph gambling houses caused Ross Livasy of Maryville to commit forgery, according to his attorney. Livasy, who Thursday pleaded guilty, was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. He made application for a parole Saturday which was denied by Judge Ryan.—St. Joseph News-Press.

SUCH AN ORGANIZATION FORMED BY PROF. MAULDING.

PLANS FOR A BIG BAND

For Next Summer Composed of Between 35 and 40 Pieces—Should Have Benches in the Park.

A junior band has been organized by Prof. T. B. Maulding, director of the Maryville band, and they had their first rehearsal with about twelve members in attendance on last Friday evening.

This band will have one rehearsal each week on Friday evening, and each member will take one lesson a week at Mr. Maulding's studio. He expects these boys to be able to join the senior band in the spring, which will make a band of thirty-five pieces, which will make a fine band and one that Maryville will surely be proud of. We feel confident that Professor Maulding will give us a great band next season, as the band he has furnished this past summer was undoubtedly up to the standard and above the average for the size of this city. Those who heard this band at Chautauqua park at their last concert on the closing evening certainly showed their appreciation and was surely proud that it was Maryville's own band, and you may expect greater things next season, for the winter season is the time to prepare a band.

Mr. Maulding wishes to thank the Commercial club especially for the interest they have taken in the matter. A band is almost a necessity to a Commercial club. We hope everybody will encourage this work, as it is elevating and helpful to any community, and the boys appreciate all the encouragement you give them.

If there are any who wish to join, Mr. Maulding says there are a few places left yet and will be glad to have all start at once.

YOUNGER PROPERTY ALL SOLD.

Disposed of at Sheriff's Sale and Brought $463.20—Attached by Nodaway Valley Bank.

The last of the Joseph Younger property, or at least all of the property that has been found, was disposed of Saturday afternoon at Elmo at a sheriff's sale by Sheriff Ed Wallace. It consisted of household goods, chairs in the opera house, scenery and stoves and the entire property brought $463.20.

The property was attached by the Nodaway Valley bank of this city.

The sale Saturday was the final wind-up of the Younger property in Elmo and there is nothing left there belonging to the former Elmo financier. In case there was, there would be many parties that would bring attachment suits.

TO BE CANDIDATE

SENATOR W. J. STONE ANNOUNCES HIS CANDIDACY.

WHAT HE SAYS IN LETTER

This Congress Will Be Known as a Memorable One for Wise and Constructive Work.

The personal friends and supporters in Missouri of Senator William J. Stone have received letters announcing his candidacy for re-election and urging Democrats to organize into a cohesive, militant force for next year's election. He says:

"I had intended to spend the fall months and the latter part of the summer in Missouri that I might confer with friends and discuss matters looking to the campaign of 1914. However, I have been so engrossed with public business incident to the continuance of the session of congress, that I have been unable to carry out this plan, and probably will be unable to do so for some time to come. The work congress has been engaged upon has been of such importance that it could not be neglected, especially at a time when we are striving to fulfill our party pledges, and to enact laws we believe to be in the public interest.

Up to date tariff legislation has been the chief subject of consideration, and as I am a member of the senate finance committee, which had charge of this legislation, and also chairman of one of the sub-committees of that body, necessarily my work has been very arduous, and has so completely occupied my time that I have practically had no time to consider current political events, or things of a personal nature. I feel compensated, however, by the result of our labors, for I believe we have succeeded in framing a tariff law responsive to our party assurance, and in accordance with the will and desire of the country. I am confident that the operation of the law will contribute to the prosperity and well being of the people and be of lasting credit to the Democratic party. In addition to the tariff legislation, we have had, and still have, before us the perplexing problem of the currency, and numerous difficult questions growing out of our foreign relations, particularly with Mexico. My committee connections have required me to give much time to many of these subjects. We are striving to make this congress a memorable one for wise, constructive work. I feel that I can congratulate Democrats upon what we have so far accomplished, and give them assurances of a continuing Democratic ascendency, as one of the pleasing results of this work.

"Because of this unusually long session of congress, the end of which I cannot yet see, there is little prospect of my being able to soon confer with my friends personally, and hence am using this method of communication. Up to date I am not advised whether there will be any opposition to my renomination for senator, nor can I tell what the situation may be until it is further developed. I would esteem it a great honor to be returned to the senate. I have sought diligently to serve my state and country, and I feel that I am better equipped to exercise a potent influence on public affairs here than ever before. I have been here long enough to have a well established position in the senate, and feel that my opportunity for usefulness has grown with my years of service. I will have more to say to you and the Democrats of the state from time to time on the subject, but for the present I am contented to rest my case with the Missouri Democracy, relying upon the record I have made, and upon their uniform fairness and considerate judgment. While I am here on the job attempting to perform my duty as a public official, I can only hope that my friends will take care of my personal interests.

"Beyond that, and of more importance than that, is the necessity of the Democrats looking to the election in November, 1914. The Democrats will nominate a candidate for senator at the August primary next year, as other parties will, but under the new constitutional amendment, for which I voted, the senator will be elected at the general election in November. At this election we must not rest on the prospect of a division in the ranks of the opposition, but we must organize our own people into a cohesive, militant force. We must rely for success chiefly upon the persistence and vigilance of our own forces. In this respect I know you are always alert and watchful, but still I beg to urge that you leave nothing undone to strengthen our lines in your vicinity. I know how strong you can be in party work and how thoroughly earnest you always are in promoting party success, but, writing you as a friend, I beg you to do your best in advancing a strong, spirited party organization."

HOMER CROY LOST.

He Loaned Money to Frank Smith on a Story and Then Smith Got It Back.

The New York World of issue of October 12 contained the following about Homer Croy:

Homer Croy, the humorist, was visited the other day by Frank Smith, who had sold a story to a magazine and wanted some money right away. It was a three thousand word yarn. Croy figured it would bring two cents a word, so he loaned Smith $50 and Smith gave Croy the following agreement.

Whereas, indent, and know all men by these presents: I, the undersigned, Frank L. Smith, being, to the best of my belief, in my right mind, do hereby bequeath, bestow, and otherwise make a free, gratis gift of any and all moneys that may be paid to me for a story entitled, "Breaking Up the Bunch." The facts of the case being as follows, me, I, the party of the first part, having received written into that the mag has decided to fall for my story, and, being broke, I have decided to discount my claim for fifty ($50) beans, cash money, to be paid me by said H. Croy. It is understood that if paid more than fifty I am to turn it all over to Croy without a murmur, yea, I must never squeal nor advertise to the world that Croy has made this soft money. And, likewise, and by the same token, if paid less than fifty beans, Croy is to keep his trap closed and make no reference in any way, shape, form, manner, language (including the Scandinavian), or dialect, to the fact that he has made an error in judgment.

"Will you be satisfied with seventy dollars?" asked Smith some weeks later. Croy thought a moment and then said, "Ye-e-s."

Before a witness the money was paid over, but Croy still hung about. Finally he asked:

"Would you mind telling me what you got for that yarn?"

"Sure you are satisfied?" asked Smith.

"Yes," said Croy.

"Well—I got one hundred and eighty-five dollars for it," said Smith.

Grow Your Own Farm Adviser.

The farm adviser movement is in its infancy now, but the time is not far distant when there is going to be a general demand for this official, not only in Missouri but in every other progressive state. One of the strongest objections to the farm adviser is that he does not understand local conditions when he takes up county work, and this is one reason that he makes mistakes and invites censure. Up in Minnesota three years ago Alfred Carlsted, 19 years of age, graduated from the agricultural college after the usual period of study and hard work. He went home enthusiastic over the new things he had learned at school, and with two younger brothers, who had taken the short course, began at once on a different method of farming than that pursued by his father and the neighbors. All were skeptical, but it did not take long to demonstrate there was something in "book learning." Minnesota has not been considered a corn state, and young Carlsted decided he would originate an early maturing variety that would make it one. The very first year his corn was so much better than the others that he sold 130 bushels of selected seed for $2.50 a bushel, a record price for that country. This year he will have 1,000 bushels, and every bushel is in demand at $3.50.

In addition to scientific corn breeding the Carlsted brothers engaged in dairying and specialized with one breed of standard poultry, conducting all their work along lines taught at the agricultural college. So successful were they that the most conservative of their neighbors have adopted the new way; land has increased in value and it is a decidedly better farming community than before.

This year the Swift county people decided they needed a farm adviser. Did they order a man sent up from the college at St. Paul? Not much! They gave the job to Alfred Carlsted, who not only had the knowledge but had shown that he knew how to use it.

In every Missouri county there are bright young farmer boys, full of energy, willing and eager to learn, who could be molded into successful advisers. They know the soil at home, they have had practical experience; there is county pride and kinship with the people to commend them. Send your boy to Columbia, let him demonstrate ability as Alfred Carlsted did, and then employ him to look after problems affecting the general county welfare which, if left to each individual, is sure to cause a greater annual loss than the adviser's salary—Missouri Ruralist.

Boyhood Reminiscences.

O, once there was a little boy who thought it joy intense
To drag a pliant piece of wood along a picket fence.
He loved the rhythmic racket that the mechanism made,
It was his favorite tune from matin song to serenade.

But as he grew to man's estate his brain expanded wide,
Of course he had to lay that simple joy of youth aside.
And yet it always echoed through his memory, more or less,
A subtle inspiration to a higher usefulness.

He is putting up a building that is climbing toward the sky
And the rivets make a racket like the tune in days gone by,
He hears the clatter with a sense of ecstacy and pride,
That melody of stick and fence so vastly magnified.

Part Mourning.

An Irishman walked into a men's furnishing goods store the other day and said:

"Oi want to get somethin' fer mournin' wear, but Oi don't exactly know what the coostom is. What do they be wearin' now for mournin'?"

"It depends," explained the salesman, "on how near the relative is for whom you wish to show this mark of respect. For a very near relative you should have an all-black suit. For some one not so near you may have a broad band of black on the left arm or a somewhat narrower one for somebody more distant."

TWENTY DEAD ON TROOP TRAIN

Artillerymen Lose Lives in Wreck on Mobile and Ohio Road.

HUNDRED OTHERS INJURED.

Soldiers Are From Fort Morgan, Alabama, and Were En Route to Meridian, Mississippi, to Attend a Fair. Train Goes Through Trestle.

Meridian, Miss, Oct. 20.—Twenty soldiers of companies Thirty-ninth and One Hundred and Seventieth, United States coast artillery, were killed, and about 100 others injured when a special troop train on the Mobile and Ohio railroad crashed through a trestle near State Line, Miss. Division Superintendent Pigford of the Mobile and Ohio railroad in a report sent to headquarters of the road at Mobile gives this number as the extent of the casualties.

The wreck was caused by the engine tender jumping the track when about 200 feet from a trestle. The engine was not derailed and passed over the trestle. The tender broke loose from the engine, however, and with the baggage car and three coaches plunged twenty-five feet to the ground. Sixteen bodies have been taken from the wreckage and Superintendent Pigford said he was sure four more bodies were in the debris, which will not be cleared away for twenty-four hours.

Some of the dead are: Joseph Teben, Ernest Parquette, Clyde Teel, H. B. Bishop, Joseph Provence, W. H. Brim, Privates Goodes, Remsen, Gruckle, Acres.

One hundred and seventy-nine soldiers were on the special train. They were from Fort Morgan and Fort Barancas and were on their way to Meridian to participate in the Mississippi-Alabama joint state fair.

The coaches were well filled and when the three cars plunged through the trestle, the men had little chance to escape. The dead and injured were entangled in a twisted mass of wreckage, making it difficult to remove dead bodies or rescue injured.

UNCLE SAM PAYS DOUBLE

Private Work Done at About One-Half Cost of Government Jobs, Field Says.

Washington, Oct. 20.—According to John E. Field, state engineer of Colorado, the construction cost of the vast system of irrigation carried on by the United States government is about double the cost under private construction; the cost of maintenance of government irrigation and reclamation projects is more than twice that of private enterprise.

It appears from Mr. Field's point of view that of the $80,000,000 which has already been spent in constructing federal irrigation schemes, about $40,000,000 practically has been wasted.

Mr. Field was connected with the United States reclamation service from 1903 to 1907 as project engineer on the North Platte and Pathfinder projects.

HUERTA NOT CANDIDATE

Report That His Name Will Be Announced Is Denied.

Mexico City, Oct. 20.—With the elections a week off and the assurance of three candidates in the field for the presidency, there appears to be no noticeable interest on the part of the general public as to who triumphs. There is no speech-making, no parades, only a few posters announcing several candidates.

A report current in the capital that General Huerta and General Blanquet, the war minister, had been announced as candidates in the state of Chiapis with their consent was denied in behalf of General Huerta by Senor Moheno, the foreign minister.

Clairvoyant Russell Tells How He Operated in Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—The confession of William R. Russell, an aged clairvoyant, who admitted he had swindled clients out of half a million dollars, was made public by State's Attorney Hoyne. In it Russell reveals the regulation rates for operating with police protection and names many detectives and a go-between to whom he said he paid thousands of dollars.

Russell asserted that he understood this money was to go to the state's attorney's office and to high police officers.

Three Hundred Lodgers Vaccinated.

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Three hundred inmates of "Hogan's flop," a 10-cent lodging house, were vaccinated when the health authorities learned that John Scarry, a smallpox patient at the county hospital, had slept there. Consternation seized the lodgers when they discovered the purpose of the four physicians and six policemen who went over the four floors of the cheap hotel arousing the occupants. Twenty of them escaped by climbing down a fire escape.

Attended Funeral at Graham.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cooper and Miss Ella Carey drove to Graham Thursday in the Cooper car to attend the funeral of Mrs. George Walker. They returned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Johnston to visit at the bedside of Will Carey, who had the misfortune to get two ribs broken a week ago while repairing a feed mill. This is the second accident in the Carey family this fall, as Mr. H. B. Carey of St. Joseph almost lost the sight of his left eye while he was repairing a buzz saw for the farm hands on the large stock farm of R. L. McDonald, north of St. Joseph, at which place he has been overseer for the past three years.

MRS. PANKHURST MAY BE ADMITTED

President Wilson Takes a Hand in Case at Washington.

GOES TO DEATH IF DEPORTED

Militant Chief Threatens Seventh and Last Hunger Strike If Turned From America's Shores — Mrs. Addams Sends Protest Against Deportation.

Washington, Oct. 20.—The president of the United States is to take a hand in deciding whether Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, militant suffragette of England, shall be admitted to this country.

President Wilson held a conference this morning with Secretary Wilson of the department of labor and Commissioner General Caminetti of the immigration bureau. High government officials, who are believed to know the attitude of the president, predicted that Mrs. Pankhurst would be admitted.

Commissioner Caminetti, after an informal hearing of counsel, had declined to release Mrs. Pankhurst on bond. Mr. Caminetti applied to the White House for a conference. The president had been taking a keen interest in the case, realizing the important international phases of the question.

Though the statutes give the secretary of labor final authority in immigration cases, presidents hitherto have indicated the construction they desired placed on such matters.

Goes Back to Death If Deported.

New York, Oct. 20.—"If I am deported, the ship taking me back will carry me to my death."

These words carrying a veiled threat of a hunger strike were uttered in the immigration detention station on Ellis island by Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the English militant suffragette, who arrived here on the steamer La Provence and was ordered deported as an undesirable alien. An appeal from the order of deportation, lodged with Immigration Commissioner Caminetti in Washington, is expected to be decided today.

Mrs. Pankhurst kept to her decision not to begin a hunger strike while the prospects seemed favorable to an early decision in her case. Her appetite was good and she appeared to relish the meals sent to her room.

Mrs. Blatch, Mrs. John Rodgers, Jr., and Miss Alice Perkins were ushered into Mrs. Pankhurst's room.

"I am a prisoner, don't forget that," she told them. She added that she was awaiting the verdict of the immigration authorities with a little impatience.

Seventh Hunuger Strike.

"I have never submitted to unjust imprisonment in England," said Mrs. Pankhurst, "and I will not submit to it here. If the steamer La Provence carries me from New York next Thursday, as the result of an order issued by the immigration authorities in Washington, the steamer will carry me to my death. I feel that I cannot last long after six hunger strikes—not much longer than twenty-four hours—if I enter upon a seventh.

"As a result of those hunger strikes my stomach is in a weakened condition. I do not fully understand my detention. This moral turpitude clause is vague and difficult to understand. I suppose, however, that the meaning of it all will be made plain before long."

Jane Addams Protests.

The Englishwoman read to her callers several telegrams she had received since her detention. One of the telegrams embraced a resolution adopted by a woman's organization in Chicago and was signed by Jane Addams of Hull House and others. The resolution protested against the "flagrant violation of our law and established policy" in detaining Mrs. Pankhurst and asked that the decision of the immigration authorities be reconsidered and "this distinguished Englishwoman" admitted.

Emily Pierson, chairman of a woman's organization of Middletown, Conn., sent a resolution requesting President Wilson to use all expediency in helping to secure the suffragette's release and "removing the disgrace" that debarring her must bring to the country.

DRINKS POISON IN DARK; DIES

Minnesota Farmer Takes Draft by Mistake and Succumbs.

Caledonia, Minn., Oct. 20.—Joseph McKenna, aged fifty, well-to-do farmer, arose during the night with cramps and, going into the pantry without troubling to turn on the light, reached for the brandy bottle. He took one swallow, then realized that he had taken a deadly poison by mistake and cried for help. Physicians were quickly called, but the man died before they arrived.

Buford at San Diego With Refugees.

San Diego, Cal., Oct. 20.—The United States transport Buford, bearing refugees from the west coast of Mexico, arrived off quarantine here. A radiogram from Charles Jenkins, special agent of the Red Cross, was the only communication which reached shore. It said that 156 refugees would be landed here. The Buford's advent was a surprise. It had been reported passing north toward San Francisco.

INDIGESTION OVERCOME.

Overcome by Simple Remedy.

Hurried and careless habits of eating, irregular meals and foods that do not harmonize, tend to weaken the digestive organs and result in different forms of stomach trouble.

If you are one of the unfortunates who have drifted into this condition, eat simple foods only, slowly, regularly and take Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic.

Mrs. H. J. Smith, Thomasville, Ga., says: "I suffered from a stomach trouble, was tired, worn out and nervous. A friend advised me to take Vinol. My stomach trouble soon disappeared and now I eat heartily and have a perfect digestion and I wish every tired, weak woman could have Vinol, for I never spent any money in my life that did me so much good."

The recovery of Mrs. Smith was due to the combined action of the medicinal elements of the cods' livers—aided by the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron, which are contained in Vinol. We will return the purchase money every time Vinol fails to benefit. The Orear-Henry Drug Co., Maryville, Mo. —Advertisement.

Mrs. J. T. Fuqua of Savannah returned home Monday morning from a visit with Mrs. Ellis G. Cook and Mrs. T. A. Wiles. Mrs. J. C. Smith of Marshalltown, Ia., who accompanied her to Maryville, remained for a longer visit.

CALLS MEXICAN POLICY INDIFFERENT

Ex-Ambassador Wilson Makes Public Letter of Resignation.

Spokane, Wash., Oct. 20.—The letter to Secretary of State Bryan, in which Henry Lane Wilson tendered his resignation as American ambassador to Mexico, was made public here by Mr. Wilson.

Mr. Wilson takes up the circumstances of his sudden recall to Washington, July 22, and the chain of events in Washington centering about his return. He complains that he was told that his return was to be for consultation and that he left without time to adjust his personal affairs, at considerable expense to himself. He came to the conclusion that he was going to be removed from office, he says, because of Mr. Bryan's attitude toward him.

"I realized," he says, "that I had been called home, not for orders, consultation or instruction, but for sentence and humiliation."

In conclusion, Mr. Wilson observes that he feels his removal "might at least have been kindlier in spirit, more generous and more considerate."

The present policy toward Mexico he brands as "indifferent and drifting" and expresses the fear that it will develop greater hatred of Americans in Latin America and eventually may lead to intervention.

GETS BACK HIS BUSINESS

Court Rules Sons Cannot Dispossess Their Father.

Kansas City, Oct. 20.—Samuel Inman, fifty-seven years old, who, starting upon a trip to Europe two years ago, and fearing something might happen to him before he could return, turned over his controlling interest in a local box factory to three sons, will not lose his control of the business. This was decided by Circuit Court Judge Bird.

When he went abroad Inman divided his twenty-seven box factory shares, valued at $60,000, between the sons, equally. These and other papers were placed in a safe, to be opened should the father meet with misfortune. Mr. Inman alleged that on his return the sons refused to give him back his business.

"This is an exceptional case," the court said in his decision. "I will not see this old man who spent his lifetime building up a business, dispossessed by three young men who believe they know more than he."

Polo Match Now Assured.

New York, Oct. 20.—An international polo match for next season is assured, according to advices received from London. It was stated that the Hurlingham club, the ruling body in England, had accepted the proposition of Lord Ashby St. Ledgers to send a team after the cup which the Duke of Westminster failed to lift last June.

Wyoming Man Drowned.

Minneapolis, Oct. 20.—A man's clothes were found on the bank of the Mississippi river, not far from the business district. The clothes were nearly overgrown with grass. From papers found in the pockets the police believe that William A. Bonham of Mason, Big Horn county, Wyo., was drowned.

Wintry Weather This Week.

Washington, Oct. 20.—Wintry weather is predicted for the next few days in the greater part of the country east of the Rocky mountains.

Needless Alarm.

An old German farmer entered the office of a wholesale druggist one morning and addressed the proprietor:

"Mister Becker, I have der schmall pox—"

"Merciful heavens, Mr. Jacobs!" exclaimed Becker, as the office force scrambled over each other in their hurry to get out, "don't come any nearer."

"Vot's der madder mit you fellers, anyhow?" quietly replied Jacobs. "I say I haf der schmall pox of butter out in mine wagon, vot Mrs. Becker ortered las' week alreaty."—National Food Magazine.

INTERNATIONAL FLEET TO GATHER AT ROADS

Warships of All Nations Will Pass Through Panama Canal.

Washington, Oct. 20.—Anchored in Hampton Roads early in 1915 will be the greatest international fleet ever gathered in American waters, assembled in answer to the invitation of the United States government to celebrate the completion of the Panama canal by making a voyage to the Pacific through the new waterway. Some of the nations with great navies may be represented by squadrons of four or more warships; others by only one or two, and some of the countries practically without navies including vessels of the first class will be represented only in the personnel of their legations and commissions to the Panama-Pacific exposition. The exact date of the exhibition will probably be announced within the next two months.

The informal invitation of the United States was dispatched to all the diplomatic officers of the United States abroad, Sept. 17 last, by Secretary Bryan. The president will go to Hampton Roads to review the assembled fleets as they start on their voyage to San Francisco.

THAW BRIEF IS FILED

Contains Information Supposed to Be Known to Dutchess Grand Jury.

Concord, N. H., Oct. 20.—Counsel for Harry K. Thaw filed a brief with Governor Felker giving the so called "inside facts" of the effort on the part of William Travers Jerome to secure an indictment charging conspiracy against Thaw. The remarkable part of the brief is that it contains information which must almost of necessity have come from members of the Dutchess county grand jury, before whom the indictment was sought.

The brief states that the first vote taken by the jury stood 10 to 5, two not voting, against finding the indictment. The district attorney then informed the jurors that a majority vote was necessary to return an indictment and the matter was reconsidered. The second vote stood 12 to 5 against finding the indictment. It was then voted to again consider the matter, but the September grand jury adjourned without taking the case up for the third time.

Mrs. Frank Ewing went to St. Joseph Monday morning for a day's visit.

FIRST PICTURE OF BURNING VOLTURNO RECEIVED HERE

This is the first photograph received in America of the burning of the Volturno, in which 131 persons lost their lives. This photograph was taken as the flames raged on the decks and passengers were jumping overboard. It was taken from the deck of the Grosser Kurfuerst, which arrived at Hoboken with 105 survivors on board.
